

ADMITS SHE KILLED RIVAL IN JEALOUSY

Mrs. Clara Buckley of Chicago Tells How She Called Mrs. McCloudy and Shot Her.

"SWEATED" FOR SEVEN HOURS.

Finally Confessed When Confronted by Neighbors Who Said She Had Told Them of Crime—Planned Deed.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Clara McCloudy, who was shot down at the rear door of her home at 1020 Rockwood this morning, was surprised by her former friend, Mrs. Clara M. Buckley, yesterday because of the friendship of Mrs. McCloudy with Albert Tyrman, an electrician, to the crime.

Mrs. Buckley, who was arrested early this morning, denied knowledge of the crime, but admitted, after being questioned for seven hours by the police, she broke down and confessed.

Prior to the statement made by Mrs. Buckley, two friends, Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. O'Connell, who were also under arrest, had told the police that Mrs. McCloudy had told them that she had killed Mrs. McCloudy.

TRY TO SHIELD WOMAN.

Both women made every effort to shield Mrs. McCloudy, but when Mrs. O'Connell was shown that she had lied having said Mrs. Buckley in three different places about her, she admitted her willingness to tell the whole story.

She then told how Mrs. Buckley had entered her apartment early in the morning, and when she asked her what she was doing in a jealous rage over Albert Tyrman, Mrs. Buckley was present when the statement was made by Mrs. McCloudy.

When advised by the police what she had in any regard, Mrs. O'Connell's statement was that Mrs. McCloudy was untrue, but ready and willing to confess.

TESTIMONY TO CRIME.

—After days of silence, I shot her last week to her death, but right and honest two weeks. I had a conversation with Mrs. McCloudy, but in a little while I forgot all about it, and little while after that I called her up on the telephone because I was worried. Later I called her again, and when she answered I told her that I would get even with her.

Then I went down to her place and spoke to her again. I told her I wanted to make amends, and I asked her whether she would answer the rapping, and then I would get even with her.

I went to the door and I grabbed hold of the doorpost and pulled it into her. Then I kicked and threw the revolver into a chair. I kicked on the revolver.

Then I went down to her place and spoke to her again. I told her I wanted to make amends, and I asked her whether she would answer the rapping, and then I would get even with her.

It is more than likely that during the coming week both the tailor and the butcher may be called in to testify, and Mr. Mulaney, the taintor, or caretaker of the Malton avenue house in Albany, over which Andrew C. Fields was the secret of the secret of Mr. Fields' Albany retreat, which he shared with the two members of the Legislature, will be called in to give his testimony.

If they were willing to be asked whether they customarily traveled at the youths' expense, or whether, like the boy Plunkett and the clerk, Edgar W. Smith, they had been paid for traveling expenses by Mr. Fields by signing vouchers for him.

It was about three weeks ago that Mr. Fields began his Southern California connection with the Albany scandal. His plane appear to have been changed at about the same time. Whether he is now actually in Southern California the committee has not yet determined.

WEDDINGS.

Police Claim the Denominations of Bills Found in Saloon Do Not Correspond With Those Lost.

James J. McSaffery, proprietor, and Frank J. Murphy, bartender, of the saloon at 2020 Locust street, the scene of the recent shooting, were married in a newspaper office and lost part of $2,000 alleged to have been taken from William Johnson, bartender, with whom Murphy was a co-proprietor of the establishment last Thursday morning.

The man arrested yesterday was among the most prominent in the city. He left town Friday, and was in the up to date 200 Club, the two thousand club, the night before his arrival, but he was not known to be a member of the club.

In the meantime, Thomas Hayes, another bartender, was also absent, but he had not been arrested and held on bonds.

According to the police, the bartender, who was reported to have been found drunk at the 200 Club, was released yesterday morning with the understanding that he would be a co-proprietor with those who had been arrested.

He was then sent to the police station to answer charges, but was not taken into custody, but was not released.

Bull Support Continues Toward Gain of 25 to 34 Points.

Legality of Hearst and Jerome Petitions Contested — Fight Will Be Carried to Supreme Court by Murphy Leaders.

INDUSTRY SPECIAL.

New York, Oct. 20.—The cotton market reached a new high level for the upward movement during to-day's session as a result of continued bad-weather reports, covering and removal of Wall Street, and support of 25 to 34 points.

Reports of rain in the central and western United States, steady at an advance of 25 to 34 points. Sales were estimated at fully 600,000 bales.

The opening was firm at an advance of 25 to 34 points. The market had been forced up to a net gain of 1802 points by the covering of the wall street, and the heavy rain in the central and western United States.

Liverpool was rather disappointing at first, but rallied as soon as the attitude of the market was known.

The protesters took the ground that the candidates had secured their nominating petitions, but they maintained that many of the names attached to the petitions were those of men who were Republicans.

This was a net gain of 25 points for the day and of 25 points from the low level of Tuesday. Realizing was heavy during the early afternoon on reports of armed interior speculators and reached the high point of the session at around 10:30 for the day.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—The Times-Picayune in its summary of the cotton situation noted that the market was active.

An unlooked-for bolt from the blue touched off the fireworks and yesterday's cotton market was just about as busy a proposition as one could imagine.

Application was made to have the candidates reported by the Board of Elections in specific cases, and if the contention is sustained, it will put an end not only to the political contest, but to the entire election.
